        From Pam Mery about this Data Ad Hoc Committee update: Yesterday (2/16), several members of the Data Analysis Ad Hoc Committee, along with several members of the Program Review Committee, participated in a Program Review "Data Preview" that focused on a new interactive Tableau that has been under development for Comprehensive Program Review. Participants included five department chairs, the Program Review Committee chair, and one school dean. The Tableau tool is designed to accompany the updated Comprehensive Program Review prompts that the Academic Senate Executive Council endorsed last week. The Research team greatly appreciated participants' questions and feedback which helped identify areas where further clarification would be helpful (e.g., adjusted titles), as well as helping to formulate the upcoming sessions which will be open to all chairs, deans, and others interested in program review. The tool provides a range of information by department, and where possible by subject, as well as including o including overall college-wide data for comparison where relevant. Research is working toward an official roll-out in advance of Mid-Semester Flex. The Tableau provides a visual representation of trends such as enrollment counts by department and subject (disaggregated), student counts (disaggregated), and a variety of milestone and completion metrics (course completion, CTE 9+, degree/certificate, transfer, SLO outcomes, etc). The Tableau also contains links to additional data relevant to specific areas such as Noncredit and CTE. Even as Research works to broadly release the new Tableau, we're looking into the College Scheduler data, as mentioned at the last EMC meeting. College Scheduler might provide additional insights into "demand" beyond what we're seeing in wait lists.
